OF
TREES AND PLANTS,
FOR THE SPRING OF 1877.

WILLIAM C. STRONG,
NONANTUM HILL NURSERY, BRIGHTON, MASS.

The hardy and superior quality of trees cultivated in this climate is admitted by all who have had experience in planting.

The prices will be found to be decidedly lower than are offered by travelling agents.

The culture of this queen of flowers is made a specialty, and no better or cheaper stock can be found in the country. The list includes all the best hardy and perpetual, as also the Tea, Noisette, and Bourbon varieties, — over one hundred in all. It will be found for the interest of the purchaser to leave latitude in the selection of kinds. In color and quality of bloom we can always give satisfaction; but it often happens that the stock of a particular kind is exhausted.

Retinospora plumosa aurea . Judging from specimens received direct from Japan, and also from importations from France, I am led to pronounce this identical with R. pisifera aurea . Its bright golden color makes it to be among trees what the GOLDEN PYRETHRUM is among bedding-plants, — a perpetual beam of sunshine. When to this are added vigor, hardiness, and constancy of color, the tree is indispensable. Fine bushy specimens at 50 cents, $1.00, and $3.00, according to size.
Magnolias in variety. Extra fine specimens at from 75 cents to $3.00 and $5.00.
Maples in variety, and of all sizes, 25 cents to $3.00.

A great variety of Trees and Plants not included in this list, are in cultivation; for a full description of which, see general Catalogue, which will be sent to all applicants.
